Dragon loose in Liss!

By Jacob Huffer

On Thursday 8th October 2020 Miss Duncan discovered a bright, red dragon in Ash class. The dragon was behind the plant up on the cabinet at Liss Junior School.

Earlier in half term, Mr Haycock found a spotty, round egg on the roof. A few weeks later Henry White saw the egg had gone missing. "I told all my friends about it but no one believed me," he stated. Then on Thursday 8th October Miss Duncan was shocked to see the dragon. "It was really quiet that day but when I saw the dragon I was terrified!"

Ash class investigators found claw marks and burns on the leaf when they were playing at wet play.

The discovery is important to Liss school because it is the only dragon to exist today and it lives in their head teacher's office.

Ash class hope there are no more dragons on the roof because if there are more dragons there will be too many to take care of all at once.

At the moment, Mrs Myers is looking after the dragon while the children learn.
