New member of ash class

It was a normal morning On Thursday last week, until our teacher, Miss Duncan, found a new member of Ash class but it wasn't a human, it was a DRAGON! A few days ago, our school care taker Mr Haycock found an unusual sized egg on our roof. We put it on a shelf but a week later it disappeared. A boy called Charlie in our class found claw marks on our plant so we know the red, bumpy dragon was there.

Miss Duncan and Ash class have been taking really good care of it by asking Mrs

Myers to feed it and letting it sleep. During lessons Mrs Myers keeps an eye on it because she has a dog called Lexi and we think she will be really good at taking care of a dragon. We all are amazed because it is the first ever school in history to have a dragon that has hatched in class.
